

Our objective should be to simplify our work and avoid confusion and also make sure to avoid error-prone check ins. (Note that a small mistake from an incorrect check in could create build errors for other team members hence affecting their productivity)